

The Good and the Beautiful

Frequently Asked Questions

What makes The Good and the Beautiful unique?

The Good and the Beautiful was launched in 2015 by Jenny Phillips, a Christian singer-songwriter who could not find a homeschool curriculum she loved and dreamed of. A curriculum that...

- Used completely clean and powerful literature
- Combined subjects for more meaningful learning and shorter school times
- Was completely open-and-go
- Was academically strong and very thorough
- Emphasized God, nature, and high character
- Was visually beautiful, engaging, and meaningful

Our three fold mission is:

-To teach advanced academics while connecting children to the good and the beautiful in life and in learning

Too many children are losing a love of learning and of wholesome, powerful literature. Learning materials and books today are also largely disconnected from God, nature, and high character—taking meaning, depth, and joy from learning. We want to change that!

-To make homeschooling less overwhelming and time consuming for the student and the instructor

The curriculum is easy to follow and requires very little to no preparation time. Language arts courses combine several subjects, which means you do not have to use 6–7 different course books for each child. Family-style history and science connect families and decrease instruction time.

-To offer affordable resources of the highest quality, making homeschooling economical and accessible

We are deeply committed to making homeschooling affordable while not sacrificing quality. High-quality courses and books should be available to those of all circumstances. Our prices are set with your family in mind and we even offer many items for free!

Which of The Good and the Beautiful courses is available for free?

Our Language Arts Course Sets (full-year courses for Levels 1-5) and our Marine Biology science units are always available as a completely free download. You can find those on goodandbeautiful.com by scrolling down to the orange circles. These downloads work well for international customers for local or home printing. We also offer all other levels and all curriculum in both PDF and physical format.

How do I get started homeschooling with The Good and the Beautiful?

To help you get started, we have a wonderful age/level guide which is available here:

https://www.goodandbeautiful.com/wp-content/uploads/2020/05/Age-Level-Guide_1.1.pdf

This chart will help you navigate what products are needed and what is typically used for each age group. Samples, helpful tips, cost, and videos, and other resources are available on our website www.GoodandBeautiful.com.

We understand that not every child will use the suggested level for their age. Because of this, we do not offer grade-specific bundles. By offering items a la carte, it allows you to customize each subject to your child's needs and abilities. We advise parents to administer our Language Arts and Math assessments before purchasing items as these tests will give you a more detailed look at your child's needs.

The Language Arts Level Assessment can be found here: https://www.goodandbeautiful.com/wp-content/uploads/2019/02/Course-Level-Assessment_2_0.pdf

Our Math Level Assessment can be found here: https://www.goodandbeautiful.com/wp-content/uploads/2020/04/K-3-Pre-Assessments_FINAL-WEB.pdf

Extensive samples and many more resources are available on goodandbeautiful.com Thank you for including us in your homeschooling journey!

The Good and the Beautiful Customer Support